In a bid to create more investment opportunities in the water resources and sanitation sector, the Federal Government of Nigeria through the Ministry of Water Resources and Sanitation has moved one step further by collaborating with the Nigerian Economic Summit Group (“NESG”) in its drive to champion a private sector led globally competitive economy. The declaration of the partnership between the Federal Government and the NESG was made by the Minister of Water Resources and Sanitation after a meeting between both parties. The idea of the collaboration is to create opportunities for the private sector to pro-actively enhance the goals of the Ministry and its water resources and sanitation mandate.

The areas of focus for the Ministry and the NESG shall be establishing plans for adequate water supply, data collection, development of a water resource master plan, and developing regulatory frameworks for water resources management. The resultant effect is expected to create easy access to clean water and eradicate water-borne diseases, water pollution, crop failures, erosion and loss of livelihoods.

This partnership is pivotal to attaining clean water for all and advancing water resource development in the country.
